A NECESSARY EVIL

The essential level-headedness of retail distributors on the question of wartime controls is clearly revealed in the prevalent expressions from merchants in favor of extending the life of OPA, whose powers are due to expire June 30, unless renewed by Congress. Speaking for food distributors, Chain Store Age declares: "Grocers don't like price control or rationing any more than our boys at the front like fighting for their lives. But they know these things are necessary if we are to lick inflation on the home front, as well as our enemies on the fighting fronts."

When a nation is faced with spending hundreds of billions of dollars to meet military demands, or suffer extinction, the people are left no alternative. Money has no value compared to national survival. We are spending today for the sake of survival, at a rate that would have been thought impossible before the war. Borrowed money is flooding the country. Retail distributors know the awful potential of too much money. Consequently, they would be the last to wish for removal of regulations designed to maintain stability. They raise their voices in criticism, not against the basic purpose of price and rationing measures, but against defects in those measures. They likewise vehemently protest the use of these necessary controls as an excuse to impose social changes upon the nation—such as the destructive production-for-use theory. They oppose these things because they undermine the legitimate aim of price fixing and rationing—inflation control.

It does not require an economic expert to realize that laws which stop merchants from selling low-cost wearing apparel are a threat to orderly distribution and the living standards of consumers. Nor does it take an expert to figure out that price fixing which eliminates all profit, drives retailers out of business and thus promotes inflation.

Yes, retail merchants know why we have the OPA as well as they understand its shortcomings. Therefore, they will continue to support it while seeking correction of its inexplicable rulings.

Self-Sufficient

STRATEGIC fashion points in the slender wool dress designed especially for CBS singer Joan Brooks are the squared-off dolman sleeves, stitched satin collar and concealed front pockets. There's dawn-to-dusk adaptability in the soft russet color which accepts brown or black accessories with equal flattery and relies on self-trim instead of jewel decoration.

Julia gives 3 favorite baking recipes

There's something about a hot oven and the good smells that come from it, these lively afternoons, that makes baking a special pleasure. Of course I have favorite recipes to work with. For instance:

SCONES

(which are just as tasty for breakfast or dinner as they are at tea-time!)

2 cups enriched flour	1 tbsp. grated orange rind
3 tps. baking powder	½ cup seedless raisins (may be omitted)
½ tsp. salt	1 egg
1 tbsp. sugar	Milk
6 tps. shortening

Sift flour; measure; sift again with baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening, add orange rind and raisins. Beat egg with fork in measuring cup, add milk to make ¾ cup; add to dry ingredients, stirring only until all the flour is dampened. Knead on lightly floured board 20 to 30 seconds; roll or pat to ½-inch thickness. Place in ungreased 9-inch layer cake pan; score scones with fork. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) about 10 minutes or until brown.

CREAM PUFFS

(and here, the trick is to bake them long enough—they can be filled with prepared puddings, or home-made corn-starch pudding or ice cream or custard.)

1 cup enriched flour	¼ tsp. salt
½ cup butter or shortening	1 cup water
	4 eggs

Sift flour and measure; sift again. Combine butter or shortening, salt, and water in saucepan. Bring to boil, remove from heat and add flour all at once, beating until dough leaves side of pan; cool slightly. Add eggs, one at a time (have eggs at room temperature), beating until batter is smooth after each addition. Drop by heaping tablespoonfuls on ungreased cookie sheet, or form into strips 4 x 1-inch, spreading into shape with a knife. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) about 20 minutes, reduce temperature to moderate oven (350° F.) and continue to bake 20 minutes longer or until thoroughly dry and will hold shape. Makes 12 large or 24 small puffs.

LEMON TEA MUFFINS

(for one thing, they provide a pleasant change when friends drop in for tea.)

1 cup enriched flour	2 eggs
1 tsp. baking powder	1 tbsp. grated lemon rind
½ tsp. salt	¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar

Sift flour and measure; sift again with baking powder and salt. Cream shortening; add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add lemon rind. Add flour mixture alternately with lemon juice, a small amount at a time, beating until smooth after each addition. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Fill well greased muffin pans ¾ full. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) 10 minutes or until done. Makes 24 tiny muffins. Serve cold (no butter required!).

Then Give Generous Contribution During the Current Campaign

The hell-on-earth which war must be, would be far difficult for our sea, land and air forces to survive—mentally as well as physically—were it not for the Red Cross which never leaves their side! The wounded marine, killed on a South Pacific jungle battlefield is given life blood plasma provided through the Red Cross. The sailor recovering in a hospital thousands of miles from home is freed of the mental torture that would be his if he could not communicate with his family—by the Red Cross which brings his letters for him, and sees to it that he too hears from his loved ones. The soldier taken prisoner by the Japs would not survive at all, if it weren't for food provided him by the Red Cross. And these aren't all the gallant services Red Cross performs. Its field directors help to settle every kind of family problem, rehabilitate the wounded—recruit nurses for the Army and Navy—operate clubmobiles for men in far-flung posts—provide emergency foreign war relief—teach first aid, nurse's training and home nursing. And let's not forget that in the face of all the demands of worldwide war, the Red Cross is ready to help victims of flood, train wrecks, fires and other public tragedies. We all have every reason to—give our dollars, to keep the RED CROSS always at "his" side.

Mrs. Allen's Fruit Bowl

By BETTY BARCLAY

There's a fruit bowl on the breakfast nook table in Mrs. Allen's home. The golden oranges and other colorful fruits give a cheery look to the whole room. Before Mrs. Allen leaves for her war work, she makes sure that the bowl is well filled. Then she knows that her hungry children will have healthful sweets for that after-school snack.

Janie Likes Oranges

Even Janie, who is in nursery school, can reach the bowl and do. Janie likes the big red apples, the yellow bananas, which aren't too plentiful any more; the mellow pears and the sweet golden oranges. The oranges are California oranges, firm-meated and practically seedless. Their skins are so easy to remove that even small hands can do it.

Janie has had orange juice ever since she was a tiny baby. Now she eats her orange all by herself—and proud she is of it, too. She has one every day. Sometimes she even eats two or three. If the oranges are small in size, as some of them are this year, one is not at all enough and mother has said to eat "all you want." Mother knows that fruit, especially oranges, will not dull appetites for the next meal, and that they provide minerals and vitamins needed by growing bodies.

Jack Entertains the Boys

Jack, who is ten, brings in his friends for lemonade, made from the yellow lemons Mrs. Allen never fails to have in the bowl. There's only one restriction. Wash and put away all dishes and leave the kitchen tidy.

There's a cookie jar next to the fruit bowl and cookies and lemonade are good eating when you're ten and have a "growing-up" appetite. The boys envy Jack. Pretty well to have a mother that leaves foods a fellow likes around like that.

Jack knows that the British sailors used to take lemon juice every day on their long voyages. It kept scurvy away. Jack reads about sailors and hopes to be one some day. Next year he can try for the cubs' football team and now he's eating fruit, especially oranges and lemons, because they will help him grow.

The coach on the high school team told the boys that oranges and lemons make good teeth and strong bones. They have vitamin C, which is good to counteract fatigue. The high school team always suck lemons before they go into action and during interludes in the game.

Dad Likes Fruit in His Lunch

Mrs. Allen finds her fruit bowl handy when she comes to pack lunches. She always tucks an orange or apple into the children's boxes. Sometimes she makes it two. Mr. Allen works at a defense plant and he insists on two oranges every day in his lunch box. They are refreshing when he is tired and thirsty, he says, and they do seem to take away some of that tired feeling.

In hot weather, Mrs. Allen often fills the vacuum bottle in Mr. Allen's box with ice-cold lemonade. Mr. Allen votes this drink one of the pleasantest events in his hot and tiring day.

For Quick Desserts

When Mrs. Allen gets home late from her war work, dinner must be a quick meal and the fruit bowl offers an easy-to-make dessert. She slices oranges or bananas and serves them with cookies, cinnamon toast or graham crackers spread with jelly. Sometimes she makes a fruit cup with orange and apple pieces and raisins or dates. She rolls orange sections in honey and in puffed wheat or rice. The children like this one especially.

Mrs. Allen finds her fruit bowl a fine investment in many ways. Fruit dishes save her time-taking cooking. She knows that the fruit her family eats spares less perishable foods for the armed forces and lend lease. Fruits are foods her family likes and they are good health insurance. They cost money, it is true. Good food does. But they are worth it, thinks Mrs. Allen as she takes her market basket and starts for the grocery store.

FRANK DISCUSSION NEEDED

Until very recently, a majority of people gave little heed to public spending. Everybody from chamber of commerce to soap box orators devoted a large share of their time figuring out how to get a bigger cut in Federal handouts. The trend for years has been toward bigger and bigger peacetime Federal budgets and more and more debt. As war loomed on the horizon, prosperity spread through the land on the wings of borrowed money.

Today the lid is off, with hundred-billion-dollar budgets and 50-billion-dollar deficits. The country has borrowed its way into an unprecedented war boom. As a result, taxes are now making people realize that the government must collect money as well as spend it, and that it must eliminate peacetime prodigality, the same as an individual.

Politicians, Republicans and Democrats alike, have shied away from a frank discussion of the nation's financial problem, either because the pay envelope of every wage earner is involved, or because they honestly don't know the answers. That is inexcusable when the solvency of the country and the savings of every individual are at stake.

It is futile to claim that we have done our "tax" best to meet the cost of the war. We have not. If we had, we would not now be riding the crest of individual prosperity.

Home Food Production Head Issues Warning

The "frost'll git" your tender plants if you put them into the ground now, George Davis, chairman of the Home Food Production committee of the San Mateo War Council, warned Peninsula gardeners today.

"It is too early to plant warm weather crops; if you want to garden, use your energy in preparing the ground for later planting. Get a copy of the planting guide experts have written for those putting in Victory gardens in the county. The guide tells when and how much and what kind of plants to put in," Davis said.

The planting guides are available to anyone who requests them at the committee headquarters in the War Council offices—1350

SHARE YOUR CAR

Howard avenue, Burlingame. "If you must plant seeds, plant the hardy crops such as carrots, beets, turnips, lettuce, radishes and the like. Potatoes can be planted now since they will sprout after the danger of frosts is gone," Davis concluded.

That "Different" Touch

By Frances Lee Barton

WE all know a friend or two from whom we are delighted to receive a dinner invitation.

These friends are not content to serve a regular meal, but always have a dish or two out of the ordinary. Even though you may never have figured it out, it's that "different" culinary touch that appeals to you and makes you welcome the dinner invitation.

Learn to serve "different" dishes at your own tables. It will pay dividends year after year.

Creamy Fig Pudding

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin; 1 pint hot water; ½ cup light cream; ¼ cup chopped stewed figs, sweetened.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Place in bowl of ice and water. When slightly thickened, whip with rotary egg beater until light and foamy throughout. Fold in cream and figs. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serve plain or with cream. Makes 10 servings.

MAE WEST—is U. S. war slang descriptive of a tank with two turrets; also a life preserver worn high under the armpits. Millions of us won't ride tanks or cross the ocean so we must do our part on the home front and buy War Bonds to the limit to back the attack of our invasion forces.

HERE
THEY ARE!

Garden fresh vegetables are now at their best. Serve them daily for your family's health and to conserve packaged foods.

For daily menus or for 'company meals,' you'll find KEITHLEY'S your best source for these foods. Our truck brings them, garden-fresh, from the growers' markets for your selection.

MAKE YOUR Ration Points COUNT

It's true many of us Americans are experiencing for the first time, a shortage, or rather a limitation of some things we want to buy. We are allowed to purchase only a given quantity of meats during a stated period.

However, the limit is put on the amount of meat purchased, not on the amount of food value derived from the meat. Wise spending of ration points stretches their buying power.

Good quality meats, cut to your order, and sold at economical prices, will help solve your wartime food problems. And that's the prescription we fill at the Farmers Meat Company.
